Be the Difference as a Medical Professional

As a medical professional, you are a part of the team that helps keep farmers and their families healthy and safe. Long days, repetitive work and exposure to chemicals are all factors that affect the health and well-being of farmers.

So what can you do to be the difference? You can start by learning about farming hazards and farming-related health issues. Ask your clients about their habits and farming tasks. Talk to farmers and their families about their health concerns.

This Ag Safety Week, Be the Difference! for farmers and their families. For more information on how you can keep farmers and their families healthy and safe, visit agsafetyweek.ca
